CORPORATE RECORD - RECORD 001

Helioscope Robotics, Inc. - diligence file reference LEGAL_HISTORY-001

1. Charter Lineage and Sequence

This report covers the three instruments that carried Helioscope Robotics from incorporation to its first restated charter: the original certificate lodged in February 2019, the single-article amendment that followed that August, and the restatement adopted in November of the same year together with the Seed designation filed minutes after it. Charter Lineage Report - Incorporation through the First Restatement. This file was assembled for the legal diligence review and reports on the original certificate, the 2019 amendment, and the first restated charter. Read this as history rather than as a present statement of position, since each figure is reproduced from the instrument in which it originally appeared.

The lineage begins with the original certificate filed at incorporation, and every later instrument in the file either restates that document in full or amends one identified article of it. Beside each instrument the file cross-references the board minute that authorized its submission, which lets authority be tested without leaving the charter binder. The original purpose clause was never narrowed, so no later instrument in the chain depends on a purpose amendment for its validity.

Counsel traced each authorized share total forward from the instrument that first set it, so a reader can see which filing produced the number carried in the current charter. The registered office statement moved twice, and the second move was effected by a standalone filing rather than folded into the restatement then in preparation. Beside each instrument the file cross-references the board minute that authorized its submission, which lets authority be tested without leaving the charter binder.

2. How the Instruments Define Their Terms

Defined terms are collected in one subsection and used consistently, and where an agreement outside the charter defines the same term differently the difference is noted. The definition of an affiliate governs the permitted assignment provisions, and it is drafted more narrowly than the definition used in the commercial agreements. The charter defines the record date mechanics for consent solicitations, and the definition was added by amendment partway through the history.

The term for requisite holders is defined by reference to shares outstanding, and the definition says expressly that authorized shares are not counted. Cross-document definitions are incorporated only where the cited agreement was in force on the measurement date, and the file identifies that date. The definition of an affiliate governs the permitted assignment provisions, and it is drafted more narrowly than the definition used in the commercial agreements.

3. Stockholder and Board Approvals

The requisite for each action was computed on shares outstanding as of the stated record date, never on authorized shares, and the worksheet supporting each computation is filed with the consent. Where a consent was returned after the stated effective date, the register marks it late and the analysis states whether the requisite was met without it. The threshold for one amendment shifted from a majority to two thirds partway through the history, so a consent that would have sufficed in 2021 would not suffice today.

A class vote and a general stockholder approval were obtained separately where both were required, and the register records them as two distinct approvals rather than one. One holder signed in two capacities, as a fund and as the manager of a co-investment vehicle, and the register counts those shares once. Where a consent was returned after the stated effective date, the register marks it late and the analysis states whether the requisite was met without it.

4. Effectiveness Against Substantive Compliance

A filing may be effective as a matter of state process while the corporate action it records still lacks an approval the charter demanded, and this file keeps those two questions apart. Where a defect was purely clerical, a correction instrument was used (8 Del. C. § 103), and counsel confirmed that no new approval was needed for a correction of that kind. The corporation did not treat the later restatement as curing the earlier defect, since a restatement carries forward existing text rather than validating the process behind it.

Acceptance by the state establishes only that the instrument met the filing requirements; it says nothing about whether the requisite holders approved the underlying action. One question remains open on the record: whether the notice of ratification reached every holder entitled to receive it, since one address on file was stale. Where a defect was purely clerical, a correction instrument was used (8 Del. C. § 103), and counsel confirmed that no new approval was needed for a correction of that kind.

5. Preferred Terms by Subsection

Dividend terms are stated as a preference payable when declared rather than as a cumulative accrual, and the designation says expressly that no dividend accrues in the absence of a declaration. Redemption is available only at holder election after a stated date, and the designation conditions any redemption on funds legally available under the law of Delaware. The conversion subsection references the original issue price as a defined term, and that term is fixed by the designation rather than derived from a purchase agreement.

The liquidation subsection sets a preference amount per series and then addresses participation separately, so a reader must take the two provisions together to see the ranking. Notices to holders are addressed to the register of record, and the designation makes the transfer agent's register the sole reference for that purpose. Redemption is available only at holder election after a stated date, and the designation conditions any redemption on funds legally available under the law of Delaware.

6. Lodgement Record, Rejections, and Refilings

The submission log records every batch lodged with the state, the documents inside it, the date of lodgement, the fee paid, and the state's response to the batch as a whole. The log distinguishes an instrument lodged by counsel at the counter from one uploaded through the state portal, because the evidence of lodgement differs. Counsel checked that each rejected submission was refiled in a form that matched the approval behind it, rather than in a form altered to satisfy the clerk.

Two submissions were rejected, and in each case the log states the reason given, the correction made, and the date the corrected form was accepted. The corporation retains the portal delivery log for each electronic submission, and the log cross-references it by confirmation number. The log distinguishes an instrument lodged by counsel at the counter from one uploaded through the state portal, because the evidence of lodgement differs.

7. Ledger and Transfer-Agent Records

The certificate register carries a stub for every certificate issued, and each stub records the class, the number of shares, the holder of record, and the authority for the issuance. One certificate was issued to a grantor trust on an estate-planning transfer, and the register notes that the transfer was permitted without a right of first refusal process. Legend removal in each instance followed a certification from counsel, and the file holds that certification rather than relying on the transfer agent's practice.

Cancellations are recorded with the date of cancellation and the successor certificate number, so a chain from an original issuance to the current holder can be walked in one pass. The register identifies which certificates are held in escrow and which escrow instrument governs each of them. One certificate was issued to a grantor trust on an estate-planning transfer, and the register notes that the transfer was permitted without a right of first refusal process.

8. Transfer Records and Refusal Rights

Each secondary transfer in the file passed through the right of first refusal process, and the record shows whether the right was exercised, waived in writing, or allowed to lapse unexercised. A pledge to a lender was released before the underlying shares moved, and the release is filed with the transfer record rather than in a separate finance folder. A single transfer was documented after the fact, and the reviewer is told the date the paperwork was assembled as well as the date the transfer took effect.

Co-sale notices are dated and their response windows calculated, so a reader can see whether a participating holder responded inside its period. The right of first refusal analysis was run separately for the corporation's primary right and for the secondary right the investors hold. A pledge to a lender was released before the underlying shares moved, and the release is filed with the transfer record rather than in a separate finance folder.

9. Minute Book Organization

The minute book is organized by tab, and the index states for each tab the period covered, the form in which the material is held, and who holds it. The bylaws as most recently amended are held with the charter instruments, and the index notes which bylaw amendments were board-adopted rather than stockholder-approved. The index distinguishes an original instrument from a conformed copy, because the distinction matters for the charter tabs in particular.

Custody is split between the corporate secretary, the transfer agent, and outside counsel, and the index says which materials sit with each of them. One tab holds the closing sets for each financing, and each set is indexed by the closing date rather than by the agreement name. The bylaws as most recently amended are held with the charter instruments, and the index notes which bylaw amendments were board-adopted rather than stockholder-approved.

10. Plan Records and Evergreen Mechanics

The plan history records each adoption, restatement, and reserve increase with the board action and the stockholder action that supported it, and it does not assume the two occurred together. The history distinguishes shares added to a reserve from shares returned to a reserve on forfeiture, since only the first requires an approval. The plan permits early exercise, and the history notes that early-exercised shares appear in the certificate register as restricted stock.

The original plan was adopted before the first preferred designation, so its reserve was approved without any class vote being required at the time. One reserve increase was approved by a consent that also addressed a protective provision, and the file separates the two approvals. The history distinguishes shares added to a reserve from shares returned to a reserve on forfeiture, since only the first requires an approval.

11. Evidence of Good Standing

The corporation has filed an annual report and paid Delaware franchise tax for every year since incorporation (8 Del. C. § 502), and the log pairs each report with the receipt for the payment. The tax history is relevant to the charter file only because authorized share totals drive the computation under one of the permitted methods. The corporation is current on all state obligations at the date of this file, subject to the current year's report not yet being due.

The computation method changed once, from the authorized shares basis to the assumed par value capital basis, and the log identifies the first year on the new method. Payment receipts are held as state-issued confirmations rather than as bank records, and the log says which form is on file for each year. The tax history is relevant to the charter file only because authorized share totals drive the computation under one of the permitted methods.

12. Open Items

The open items are listed as they stand rather than resolved on paper, because a diligence reader needs to know what the corporation has not yet closed. Counsel has not been asked to opine on any of the open items, and nothing in this file should be read as an opinion on them. The reviewer is asked to treat the open items list as the authoritative summary, since the individual tabs record only the items that touch them.

Three consent counterparts have never been returned, and while the requisite was met without them the file does not describe the sets as complete. One item concerns a nominee whose principal has not been identified, which bears on the information rights the nominee may claim. Counsel has not been asked to opine on any of the open items, and nothing in this file should be read as an opinion on them.
