CORPORATE RECORD - RECORD 004

Helioscope Robotics, Inc. - diligence file reference LEGAL_HISTORY-004

1. Effectiveness Against Substantive Compliance

The records assembled here concern the authorized-common increase filed in November 2021, the transposed share total the state accepted on its face, and the certificate of correction lodged the following week to repair it without disturbing the approval behind it. Authorized Share Increase, the Transposition Defect, and Its Correction. Prepared for the data room ahead of signing, the record here examines the 2021 authorized-common increase and the certificate of correction that followed. A caution on scope belongs at the outset: this record reports what was filed and approved in the past and makes no representation about anything pending.

One question remains open on the record: whether the notice of ratification reached every holder entitled to receive it, since one address on file was stale. A filing may be effective as a matter of state process while the corporate action it records still lacks an approval the charter demanded, and this file keeps those two questions apart. The analysis records for each instrument whether it is effective, effective subject to an open approval item, or superseded, and it does not collapse those states into a single label.

Acceptance by the state establishes only that the instrument met the filing requirements; it says nothing about whether the requisite holders approved the underlying action. Effectiveness of the forum amendment was never in doubt, but its enforceability against a particular claim is a separate matter this file does not address. The analysis records for each instrument whether it is effective, effective subject to an open approval item, or superseded, and it does not collapse those states into a single label.

2. Charter Lineage and Sequence

The registered office statement moved twice, and the second move was effected by a standalone filing rather than folded into the restatement then in preparation. The lineage begins with the original certificate filed at incorporation, and every later instrument in the file either restates that document in full or amends one identified article of it. One certificate of correction appears in the sequence; it altered no approval and operates only against the factual error in the instrument it corrects.

Counsel traced each authorized share total forward from the instrument that first set it, so a reader can see which filing produced the number carried in the current charter. Every designation in the chain rests on the blank-check authority the charter reserves to the board, and the enabling article is named for each one. One certificate of correction appears in the sequence; it altered no approval and operates only against the factual error in the instrument it corrects.

2. Charter Lineage and Sequence - part 2 of 3

Continuing the 2. Charter Lineage and Sequence, the rows below follow directly on from part 2 minus one, with no gap in the reference sequence. The parts are to be read together.

Because the basis of the 2. Charter Lineage and Sequence is unchanged, figures in this part may be compared directly with those already given. The break is editorial.

2. Charter Lineage and Sequence - part 3 of 3

Because the 2. Charter Lineage and Sequence does not fit one page, its remainder is set out below under the same references. Pagination alone determines where it falls.

Whatever caveat the 2. Charter Lineage and Sequence carried at its head travels with these rows, and no additional caveat attaches to this part. The sequence is unbroken either side of it.

3. Lodgement Record, Rejections, and Refilings

The corporation retains the portal delivery log for each electronic submission, and the log cross-references it by confirmation number. The submission log records every batch lodged with the state, the documents inside it, the date of lodgement, the fee paid, and the state's response to the batch as a whole. Stamped copies as returned by the state are indexed separately from counsel's execution copies, so the two cannot be confused in the file.

Two submissions were rejected, and in each case the log states the reason given, the correction made, and the date the corrected form was accepted. A single batch contained a restatement and a designation, and the log shows the two instruments with distinct effective times inside the same lodgement. Stamped copies as returned by the state are indexed separately from counsel's execution copies, so the two cannot be confused in the file.

4. Stockholder and Board Approvals

One holder signed in two capacities, as a fund and as the manager of a co-investment vehicle, and the register counts those shares once. The requisite for each action was computed on shares outstanding as of the stated record date, never on authorized shares, and the worksheet supporting each computation is filed with the consent. The board resolutions authorizing a filing and the stockholder consent approving the underlying action are indexed separately, since each answers a different question about authority.

A class vote and a general stockholder approval were obtained separately where both were required, and the register records them as two distinct approvals rather than one. Counsel reviewed whether any consent required a notice to non-consenting holders after the fact, and identified the notices sent and the one that was not. The board resolutions authorizing a filing and the stockholder consent approving the underlying action are indexed separately, since each answers a different question about authority.

5. Defined Terms and Construction

Cross-document definitions are incorporated only where the cited agreement was in force on the measurement date, and the file identifies that date. Defined terms are collected in one subsection and used consistently, and where an agreement outside the charter defines the same term differently the difference is noted. A defined term for the transfer agent's register makes that register the reference point for notices and for measuring holders of record.

The term for requisite holders is defined by reference to shares outstanding, and the definition says expressly that authorized shares are not counted. The term for a permitted transferee appears in both the charter and the transfer agreements, and the two definitions were conformed in one of the restatements. A defined term for the transfer agent's register makes that register the reference point for notices and for measuring holders of record.

6. Preferred Terms by Subsection

Notices to holders are addressed to the register of record, and the designation makes the transfer agent's register the sole reference for that purpose. Dividend terms are stated as a preference payable when declared rather than as a cumulative accrual, and the designation says expressly that no dividend accrues in the absence of a declaration. Protective provisions are listed as a schedule of actions the corporation may not take without a class approval, and each entry names the class entitled to vote.

The liquidation subsection sets a preference amount per series and then addresses participation separately, so a reader must take the two provisions together to see the ranking. One subsection reserves to the board the power to fix the terms of any further series, subject to the protective provisions then in force. Protective provisions are listed as a schedule of actions the corporation may not take without a class approval, and each entry names the class entitled to vote.

7. Custody, Index, and Completeness

One tab holds the closing sets for each financing, and each set is indexed by the closing date rather than by the agreement name. The minute book is organized by tab, and the index states for each tab the period covered, the form in which the material is held, and who holds it. Two board consents in the minute book are unsigned by one director, and the index records that rather than presenting the set as complete.

Custody is split between the corporate secretary, the transfer agent, and outside counsel, and the index says which materials sit with each of them. The corporation's records retention practice keeps charter and stockholder materials indefinitely, which the index states on its face. Two board consents in the minute book are unsigned by one director, and the index records that rather than presenting the set as complete.

8. Joinder Records and Notice Maintenance

Where a joinder was delivered late, the register states the delay and whether any right was exercised during the interval. Every joinder in the register names the agreements the party joined, the capacity in which it joined, and the date the joinder became effective, which is not always the date it was signed. Counsel checked whether each party holding rights under the agreements has in fact joined them, and the check found no holder exercising a right it had not joined.

A joinder limited to the refusal and co-sale agreement gives no information rights, and the register makes that limitation explicit for the parties concerned. Assignment of rights to an affiliate was permitted in two instances, and each assignment is recorded with the joinder the assignee then delivered. Counsel checked whether each party holding rights under the agreements has in fact joined them, and the check found no holder exercising a right it had not joined.

9. Waivers, Terms, and Lapse

No waiver in the register was granted retrospectively, though one was documented after the conduct it permitted had begun. Each waiver in the register states the provision waived, the date granted, a term in days, and a lapse date computed from that term, so nothing depends on a reader's arithmetic. The longest waiver in the register ran a full year and concerned a board observer seat that was left unfilled throughout.

A waiver that lapses does not revive the waived provision retrospectively, and the register records what happened during the waiver period as well as after it. Because several waivers share a stated term of thirty days, the register computes each lapse date separately from its own grant date. The longest waiver in the register ran a full year and concerned a board observer seat that was left unfilled throughout.

10. State Obligations and Standing

Payment receipts are held as state-issued confirmations rather than as bank records, and the log says which form is on file for each year. The corporation has filed an annual report and paid Delaware franchise tax for every year since incorporation (8 Del. C. § 502), and the log pairs each report with the receipt for the payment. The log records who filed each report, which was the registered agent in the early years and the controller thereafter.

The computation method changed once, from the authorized shares basis to the assumed par value capital basis, and the log identifies the first year on the new method. The registered agent's own annual fee is recorded separately from the franchise tax, since the two are unrelated obligations. The log records who filed each report, which was the registered agent in the early years and the controller thereafter.

11. Register of Issued and Cancelled Certificates

The register identifies which certificates are held in escrow and which escrow instrument governs each of them. The certificate register carries a stub for every certificate issued, and each stub records the class, the number of shares, the holder of record, and the authority for the issuance. Election receipts for restricted stock are filed behind the corresponding stub, and the register flags the single grant for which the receipt has not been produced.

Cancellations are recorded with the date of cancellation and the successor certificate number, so a chain from an original issuance to the current holder can be walked in one pass. No certificate in the register is recorded as lost, so the file contains no affidavit of loss or indemnity bond. Election receipts for restricted stock are filed behind the corresponding stub, and the register flags the single grant for which the receipt has not been produced.

12. Items Carried Forward

One item concerns a nominee whose principal has not been identified, which bears on the information rights the nominee may claim. The open items are listed as they stand rather than resolved on paper, because a diligence reader needs to know what the corporation has not yet closed. Each open item is stated with the date it arose, so a reader can see how long it has been outstanding.

Three consent counterparts have never been returned, and while the requisite was met without them the file does not describe the sets as complete. The list does not include items arising from the current financing, which are tracked separately by the transaction team. Each open item is stated with the date it arose, so a reader can see how long it has been outstanding.
