CORPORATE RECORD - RECORD 005

Helioscope Robotics, Inc. - diligence file reference LEGAL_HISTORY-005

1. Preferred Terms by Subsection

This report addresses the Series A-2 Preferred designation of September 2022 and the protective-provision edits taken with it, including the sixty per cent Series A-1 class vote and the later amendment that clarified the conversion mechanics of that same series. Series A-2 Designation and Protective Provision Edits. What follows is an extract from the corporate records limited to the Series A-2 designation and the protective-provision changes taken with it. Figures below are drawn from the instruments themselves, and no part of this file was written to describe the round presently being documented.

Seniority is expressed by series and, within one series, by tranche, and the designation avoids describing rank through any summary capitalization exhibit. Protective provisions are listed as a schedule of actions the corporation may not take without a class approval, and each entry names the class entitled to vote. The designation states that a class approval given in advance of an action remains effective only if the action occurs within a stated window.

Protective provisions are listed as a schedule of actions the corporation may not take without a class approval, and each entry names the class entitled to vote. Anti-destruction language addresses what a holder receives on a recapitalization, and it is drafted independently of the deemed liquidation clause. Conversion is stated as an optional right at holder election plus an automatic conversion on stated events, and each trigger is defined in its own lettered clause.

2. How the Governing Text Reached Its Current Form

Where a restatement consolidated earlier amendments, the superseded instruments stay in the file, because an abandoned proposal and an operative provision look alike once the numbering changes. One certificate of correction appears in the sequence; it altered no approval and operates only against the factual error in the instrument it corrects. A reader working backwards from the current authorized totals reaches one step that will not reconcile until the correction instrument is read together with the amendment it repairs.

One certificate of correction appears in the sequence; it altered no approval and operates only against the factual error in the instrument it corrects. This file separates an amendment that raised an authorized total from a designation that allocated part of that total to a new series, because the two demand different approvals. Two restatements were adopted in the same week as a new series designation, and they remain separate instruments here because the state accepted them as separate filings.

3. Stockholder and Board Approvals

Two directors recused themselves from the item in which they held an interest, and the minute records the recusal before the vote rather than as a later annotation. The board resolutions authorizing a filing and the stockholder consent approving the underlying action are indexed separately, since each answers a different question about authority. The interested-party analysis was performed on the transaction as a whole and again on each item within it, because a director interested in one item was disinterested in the others.

The board resolutions authorizing a filing and the stockholder consent approving the underlying action are indexed separately, since each answers a different question about authority. Where the same consent approved both a charter amendment and a plan reserve increase, the file separates the two approvals so a defect in one does not travel to the other. An abstention was treated as neither a consent nor an objection, and the numerator excludes it while the denominator continues to count the abstaining holder's shares.

4. Defined Terms and Construction

A deemed liquidation event is defined by enumerating transaction forms rather than by a general description, which narrows the clause deliberately. A defined term for the transfer agent's register makes that register the reference point for notices and for measuring holders of record. A defined term for the plan reserve links the charter's authorized totals to the equity plan documents without repeating any figure.

A defined term for the transfer agent's register makes that register the reference point for notices and for measuring holders of record. The definitions subsection states that the singular includes the plural, which resolves a reading question in the protective provisions. The original issue price of each series is fixed as a defined term in the designation, and no later instrument adjusts it except by express amendment.

4. Defined Terms and Construction - part 2 of 5

Because the 4. Defined Terms and Construction does not fit one page, its remainder is set out below under the same references. The parts are to be read together.

Scope, cut-off and units for the 4. Defined Terms and Construction were fixed at its first part and are not repeated, being unaltered. The sequence is unbroken either side of it.

4. Defined Terms and Construction - part 3 of 5

Where the 4. Defined Terms and Construction was interrupted by the page, it picks up again below, and the numbering is continuous throughout the schedule. Nothing is restated from the earlier part.

Readers should carry the 4. Defined Terms and Construction's stated conventions across the break, since this part adds no definition of its own. No row is omitted at the join.

5. Procedural Effectiveness and Open Authority

Counsel distinguished a curable procedural gap from a substantive failure of authority, since the remedies available differ sharply between them. The analysis records for each instrument whether it is effective, effective subject to an open approval item, or superseded, and it does not collapse those states into a single label. The validation certificate identifies the defective act, the date of the act, the nature of the defect, and the date the ratification was approved, in that order.

The analysis records for each instrument whether it is effective, effective subject to an open approval item, or superseded, and it does not collapse those states into a single label. Because the defect concerned a class vote rather than board authority, the ratification was approved by the class whose vote had been missing. One instrument became effective before the class vote it required was complete, and the corporation later addressed that gap through a ratification rather than a refiling.

6. Register of Issued and Cancelled Certificates

Two certificates were cancelled and reissued in part, and the register shows both the cancelled amount and the reissued amount rather than only the net position. Election receipts for restricted stock are filed behind the corresponding stub, and the register flags the single grant for which the receipt has not been produced. Uncertificated shares appear in the ledger without a stub, and the register cross-references the board resolution that permitted uncertificated issuance.

Election receipts for restricted stock are filed behind the corresponding stub, and the register flags the single grant for which the receipt has not been produced. The cancellation entries were tested against the ledger movements to confirm that no cancelled certificate remained counted as outstanding. Restricted shares carry a legend, and the register distinguishes a legend that remains from one removed on a stated date with a stated certification behind it.

7. Recorded Transfers and the Rights Engaged

One negotiated secondary sale to an outside fund proceeded on a written waiver, and the waiver names the specific transfer it permits rather than granting a general dispensation. The corporation declined to record one proposed transfer until the standstill question had been resolved, and that item remains open. The estate-planning transfer moved shares between two trusts with the same beneficiaries, and the file holds the trust certificates that establish the relationship.

The corporation declined to record one proposed transfer until the standstill question had been resolved, and that item remains open. None of the transfers in the file triggered a drag-along right, and the record states the threshold that would have been required. A permitted family transfer required no refusal process at all, and the file states the clause of the agreement that made it permitted.

8. Waivers, Terms, and Lapse

Two waivers lapsed without the notice the underlying agreement contemplates, and the register marks the notice column rather than presenting the lapse as clean. The longest waiver in the register ran a full year and concerned a board observer seat that was left unfilled throughout. The register records whether a lapse was noticed, partially noticed, or not noticed, and it does not treat an unnoticed lapse as a failure of the lapse itself.

The longest waiver in the register ran a full year and concerned a board observer seat that was left unfilled throughout. One waiver deferred a recalculation that would otherwise have been required, and the deferral was tied to the completion of the ratification then in progress. One waiver was granted for a single transaction and expressly did not extend to any other transfer, which the register reproduces in the effect column.

9. Plan Adoption and Reserve Approvals

A later plan introduced an evergreen provision, and the history records each year the evergreen tranche was certified by the board. One increase was approved conditionally, taking effect only on the closing of the financing then in progress, and the condition is recorded. The history records the plan under which each grant was made, which matters because two plans were live in the same calendar year.

One increase was approved conditionally, taking effect only on the closing of the financing then in progress, and the condition is recorded. No plan amendment in the history reduced a reserve, so the authorized-share reconciliation moves in one direction only on the plan lines. The evergreen was suspended for one year, and the suspension was approved by the same consent that carried a charter amendment.

10. Custody, Index, and Completeness

One tab has a gap covering a single year of registered agent correspondence, which the index records rather than leaving the reader to discover it. Two board consents in the minute book are unsigned by one director, and the index records that rather than presenting the set as complete. Where a document exists in both a signed and an unsigned form, the index names the signed version as the record copy.

Two board consents in the minute book are unsigned by one director, and the index records that rather than presenting the set as complete. The index was tested by pulling ten items at random and confirming each was where the index said it would be. The registered agent has changed once, and the acceptance of the incoming agent is filed with the instrument that recorded the change.

11. Administration of State Filings

The first rejection turned on a signature block that did not state the signing officer's capacity, a defect corrected within a day. Stamped copies as returned by the state are indexed separately from counsel's execution copies, so the two cannot be confused in the file. No filing in the log was withdrawn after lodgement, so the file contains no withdrawal instrument.

Stamped copies as returned by the state are indexed separately from counsel's execution copies, so the two cannot be confused in the file. The log records page counts per document, which is how the state assessed part of the fee for the longer restatements. The second rejection concerned a restated form lodged without the officer certification the state requires with a restatement of that kind.

Schedule 5.5 - Class approval requirements by action

Action requiring approval	Class entitled	Threshold	Charter locus	Amendment history
repurchase Common other than at original cost	Preferred as a single class	majority	ARC-3 IV.2(i)	carve-out for plan repurchases retained

12. Open Items

One restricted stock election receipt is missing from the file, and the grantee has been asked to produce the mailing evidence. Each open item is stated with the date it arose, so a reader can see how long it has been outstanding. An item was reopened after it had been closed, because the document produced turned out to be a superseded copy.

Each open item is stated with the date it arose, so a reader can see how long it has been outstanding. Two items depend on a third party returning a signature, and the corporation cannot close them unilaterally. Two notice addresses are stale, and until they are corrected any notice sent under the agreements to those parties is of doubtful effect.
