CORPORATE RECORD - RECORD 010

Helioscope Robotics, Inc. - diligence file reference LEGAL_HISTORY-010

1. Register of Issued and Cancelled Certificates

The material here concerns legend administration: the certifications that supported each legend removal, the instruction letters sent to the transfer agent, and the restricted-stock election receipts held against each early-exercised or awarded block. Legend Administration, Transfer-Agent Instructions, and 83(b) Receipts. Prepared for the data room ahead of signing, the record here examines legend removal, transfer-agent instructions, and restricted-stock election receipts. A caution on scope belongs at the outset: this record reports what was filed and approved in the past and makes no representation about anything pending.

The certificate register carries a stub for every certificate issued, and each stub records the class, the number of shares, the holder of record, and the authority for the issuance. Uncertificated shares appear in the ledger without a stub, and the register cross-references the board resolution that permitted uncertificated issuance. The register was reconciled against the transfer agent's own report, and the two agreed on every line except one entry the agent had recorded a day earlier.

The register was reconciled against the transfer agent's own report, and the two agreed on every line except one entry the agent had recorded a day earlier. The cancellation entries were tested against the ledger movements to confirm that no cancelled certificate remained counted as outstanding. Cancellations are recorded with the date of cancellation and the successor certificate number, so a chain from an original issuance to the current holder can be walked in one pass.

2. Recorded Transfers and the Rights Engaged

Each secondary transfer in the file passed through the right of first refusal process, and the record shows whether the right was exercised, waived in writing, or allowed to lapse unexercised. The estate-planning transfer moved shares between two trusts with the same beneficiaries, and the file holds the trust certificates that establish the relationship. For one nominee re-registration the beneficial holder did not change, and the record says so expressly to prevent the entry being read as a sale.

For one nominee re-registration the beneficial holder did not change, and the record says so expressly to prevent the entry being read as a sale. None of the transfers in the file triggered a drag-along right, and the record states the threshold that would have been required. Co-sale notices are dated and their response windows calculated, so a reader can see whether a participating holder responded inside its period.

Rows of the 2. Recorded Transfers and the Rights Engaged resume here, numbered on from the part immediately preceding, so a reference cited once resolves in only one place. Nothing is restated from the earlier part.

Column definitions stated with the first part of the 2. Recorded Transfers and the Rights Engaged govern the whole of it, and any qualification recorded there is carried forward here. The sequence is unbroken either side of it.

3. Equity Plan History

The plan history records each adoption, restatement, and reserve increase with the board action and the stockholder action that supported it, and it does not assume the two occurred together. The history records the plan under which each grant was made, which matters because two plans were live in the same calendar year. Counsel checked that no grant was made in excess of the reserve then available, and the check found no such grant.

Counsel checked that no grant was made in excess of the reserve then available, and the check found no such grant. No plan amendment in the history reduced a reserve, so the authorized-share reconciliation moves in one direction only on the plan lines. The original plan was adopted before the first preferred designation, so its reserve was approved without any class vote being required at the time.

4. Minute Book Organization

The minute book is organized by tab, and the index states for each tab the period covered, the form in which the material is held, and who holds it. Where a document exists in both a signed and an unsigned form, the index names the signed version as the record copy. Counsel reviewed whether the minute book contains any instrument inconsistent with the charter as filed, and identified none.

Counsel reviewed whether the minute book contains any instrument inconsistent with the charter as filed, and identified none. The index was tested by pulling ten items at random and confirming each was where the index said it would be. Custody is split between the corporate secretary, the transfer agent, and outside counsel, and the index says which materials sit with each of them.

4. Minute Book Organization - part 2 of 3

Where the 4. Minute Book Organization was interrupted by the page, it picks up again below, and the numbering is continuous throughout the schedule. The break is editorial.

Readers should carry the 4. Minute Book Organization's stated conventions across the break, since this part adds no definition of its own. The parts are to be read together.

4. Minute Book Organization - part 3 of 3

This is part 3 of the 4. Minute Book Organization, carried over unbroken; a reader reconciling a reference should treat the parts as a single register. The parts are to be read together.

Because the basis of the 4. Minute Book Organization is unchanged, figures in this part may be compared directly with those already given. The break is editorial.

5. How the Instruments Define Their Terms

Defined terms are collected in one subsection and used consistently, and where an agreement outside the charter defines the same term differently the difference is noted. A defined term for the plan reserve links the charter's authorized totals to the equity plan documents without repeating any figure. One term defined in the earliest certificate is no longer used, and the restatement retained it, which the conformance review notes as a harmless remnant.

One term defined in the earliest certificate is no longer used, and the restatement retained it, which the conformance review notes as a harmless remnant. The definitions subsection states that the singular includes the plural, which resolves a reading question in the protective provisions. The term for requisite holders is defined by reference to shares outstanding, and the definition says expressly that authorized shares are not counted.

6. Waiver Administration

Each waiver in the register states the provision waived, the date granted, a term in days, and a lapse date computed from that term, so nothing depends on a reader's arithmetic. The register records whether a lapse was noticed, partially noticed, or not noticed, and it does not treat an unnoticed lapse as a failure of the lapse itself. A waiver of a protective provision permitted the formation of a service subsidiary, and the register cross-references the board minute that approved the formation.

A waiver of a protective provision permitted the formation of a service subsidiary, and the register cross-references the board minute that approved the formation. One waiver deferred a recalculation that would otherwise have been required, and the deferral was tied to the completion of the ratification then in progress. A waiver that lapses does not revive the waived provision retrospectively, and the register records what happened during the waiver period as well as after it.

7. Instrument Chronology

The lineage begins with the original certificate filed at incorporation, and every later instrument in the file either restates that document in full or amends one identified article of it. A reader working backwards from the current authorized totals reaches one step that will not reconcile until the correction instrument is read together with the amendment it repairs. Nothing was filed out of sequence, yet three instruments were signed well before submission, and the interval between signature and lodgement is recorded for each of them.

Nothing was filed out of sequence, yet three instruments were signed well before submission, and the interval between signature and lodgement is recorded for each of them. This file separates an amendment that raised an authorized total from a designation that allocated part of that total to a new series, because the two demand different approvals. Counsel traced each authorized share total forward from the instrument that first set it, so a reader can see which filing produced the number carried in the current charter.

8. Submission Batches and State Responses

The submission log records every batch lodged with the state, the documents inside it, the date of lodgement, the fee paid, and the state's response to the batch as a whole. No filing in the log was withdrawn after lodgement, so the file contains no withdrawal instrument. The registered agent lodged two of the batches, and the agent's own confirmation is filed alongside the state receipt.

The registered agent lodged two of the batches, and the agent's own confirmation is filed alongside the state receipt. The log records page counts per document, which is how the state assessed part of the fee for the longer restatements. Two submissions were rejected, and in each case the log states the reason given, the correction made, and the date the corrected form was accepted.

9. Parties, Successors, and Permitted Assigns

Every joinder in the register names the agreements the party joined, the capacity in which it joined, and the date the joinder became effective, which is not always the date it was signed. No joinder in the register purports to modify the agreement it joins, and counsel confirmed that reading against each signature page. A successor trustee joined in place of the original trustee, and the register keeps both entries so the change in capacity is visible.

A successor trustee joined in place of the original trustee, and the register keeps both entries so the change in capacity is visible. The register was reconciled against the stock ledger so that no holder of record is missing from the parties to the voting agreement. A joinder limited to the refusal and co-sale agreement gives no information rights, and the register makes that limitation explicit for the parties concerned.

10. Evidence of Good Standing

The corporation has filed an annual report and paid Delaware franchise tax for every year since incorporation (8 Del. C. § 502), and the log pairs each report with the receipt for the payment. Where a report was amended, both the original and the amended version are retained, and the log explains what changed between them. A good standing certificate of recent date was obtained for the current diligence process, and it is filed at the front of the administration tab.

A good standing certificate of recent date was obtained for the current diligence process, and it is filed at the front of the administration tab. Counsel confirmed that no franchise tax lien or forfeiture proceeding appears against the corporation in the state's records. The computation method changed once, from the authorized shares basis to the assumed par value capital basis, and the log identifies the first year on the new method.

11. Approvals and Requisite Calculations

The requisite for each action was computed on shares outstanding as of the stated record date, never on authorized shares, and the worksheet supporting each computation is filed with the consent. The interested-party analysis was performed on the transaction as a whole and again on each item within it, because a director interested in one item was disinterested in the others. For one item the corporation solicited a consent from a class whose approval was not in fact required, and the file keeps that solicitation as a belt-and-braces record.

For one item the corporation solicited a consent from a class whose approval was not in fact required, and the file keeps that solicitation as a belt-and-braces record. Where the same consent approved both a charter amendment and a plan reserve increase, the file separates the two approvals so a defect in one does not travel to the other. A class vote and a general stockholder approval were obtained separately where both were required, and the register records them as two distinct approvals rather than one.

12. Matters Left Outstanding

The open items are listed as they stand rather than resolved on paper, because a diligence reader needs to know what the corporation has not yet closed. An item was reopened after it had been closed, because the document produced turned out to be a superseded copy. The corporation's position on the unsigned board consents is that the action was validly taken by the directors who did sign, and the file records that position as a position.

The corporation's position on the unsigned board consents is that the action was validly taken by the directors who did sign, and the file records that position as a position. Two items depend on a third party returning a signature, and the corporation cannot close them unilaterally. Three consent counterparts have never been returned, and while the requisite was met without them the file does not describe the sets as complete.
