CORPORATE RECORD - RECORD 014

Helioscope Robotics, Inc. - diligence file reference LEGAL_HISTORY-014

1. Dated Waivers and What Followed Them

The waiver register is the subject here: twelve dated waivers, each with a stated term in days and a computed lapse date, and the notice record showing which lapses were circulated, which were partly circulated, and which were not. Waiver Register, Stated Terms, and Lapse Notices. Counsel prepared the present record at the request of the diligence team, and it addresses the dated waivers, their stated terms, and whether each lapse was noticed. Nothing in these pages speaks to the current round, and every amount belongs to the instrument that carried it rather than to any later transaction.

Waivers were circulated to the full holder group even where only one holder's right was affected, and the register records that practice. Two waivers lapsed without the notice the underlying agreement contemplates, and the register marks the notice column rather than presenting the lapse as clean. The register shows one waiver still open at the date of this file, with its notice drafted but not yet circulated.

The register shows one waiver still open at the date of this file, with its notice drafted but not yet circulated. A certification requirement was waived for one quarter and the certification was then delivered on the lapse date itself, which the register notes. One waiver was granted for a single transaction and expressly did not extend to any other transfer, which the register reproduces in the effect column.

2. Joinder Records and Notice Maintenance

The corporation has not required a joinder from holders of vested options, and the register explains why on its face. Where a party succeeded to another holder's position, the register identifies the predecessor and states whether the predecessor's joinder was superseded or remains on foot. Notice-address maintenance is the corporation's obligation under the agreements, and the register records the date each address was last confirmed.

Notice-address maintenance is the corporation's obligation under the agreements, and the register records the date each address was last confirmed. The register identifies which parties are treated as major holders for the purposes of the information and participation rights. Two notice addresses on the register are stale, and mail to one of them has been returned, which is recorded as an open administrative item.

3. Transfer Records and Refusal Rights

The corporation charged no transfer fee, and the file notes that the agreements would have permitted one. One negotiated secondary sale to an outside fund proceeded on a written waiver, and the waiver names the specific transfer it permits rather than granting a general dispensation. The file records the consideration category for each transfer, distinguishing a repurchase at original cost from a negotiated price between third parties.

The file records the consideration category for each transfer, distinguishing a repurchase at original cost from a negotiated price between third parties. A single transfer was documented after the fact, and the reviewer is told the date the paperwork was assembled as well as the date the transfer took effect. A permitted family transfer required no refusal process at all, and the file states the clause of the agreement that made it permitted.

4. Consent Record and Thresholds

The corporation obtained one approval by unanimous consent of all holders of record, which removed any question about the notice that a partial consent would have required. Two directors recused themselves from the item in which they held an interest, and the minute records the recusal before the vote rather than as a later annotation. A power of attorney supports one signature page, and the instrument granting that power is filed behind the consent rather than in the general corporate records.

A power of attorney supports one signature page, and the instrument granting that power is filed behind the consent rather than in the general corporate records. The threshold for one amendment shifted from a majority to two thirds partway through the history, so a consent that would have sufficed in 2021 would not suffice today. An abstention was treated as neither a consent nor an objection, and the numerator excludes it while the denominator continues to count the abstaining holder's shares.

Following on directly, these further rows of the 4. Consent Record and Thresholds belong to the same schedule and share its numbering. The break is editorial.

Nothing in this part varies how the 4. Consent Record and Thresholds was compiled, and the headings given at the start remain the operative ones. The parts are to be read together.

5. How the Instruments Define Their Terms

The construction clause provides that a reference to a statute is to that statute as amended, which affects how the older instruments should be read today. A deemed liquidation event is defined by enumerating transaction forms rather than by a general description, which narrows the clause deliberately. The definitions distinguish an amendment from a restatement, and the amendment article applies different mechanics to each.

The definitions distinguish an amendment from a restatement, and the amendment article applies different mechanics to each. The charter defines the record date mechanics for consent solicitations, and the definition was added by amendment partway through the history. The original issue price of each series is fixed as a defined term in the designation, and no later instrument adjusts it except by express amendment.

6. Defects, Corrections, and Ratification

The file records that no stockholder brought a challenge within the period during which one might have been brought, though that is not offered as a legal conclusion. Counsel distinguished a curable procedural gap from a substantive failure of authority, since the remedies available differ sharply between them. Two open items concern approvals obtained after the fact, and in each case the file states the date the approval was actually given.

Two open items concern approvals obtained after the fact, and in each case the file states the date the approval was actually given. The corporation did not treat the later restatement as curing the earlier defect, since a restatement carries forward existing text rather than validating the process behind it. One instrument became effective before the class vote it required was complete, and the corporation later addressed that gap through a ratification rather than a refiling.

7. Certificate and Ledger Records

The corporation issues certificates only against a completed subscription or grant record, and the register names that record for each issuance. Two certificates were cancelled and reissued in part, and the register shows both the cancelled amount and the reissued amount rather than only the net position. Repurchases at original cost on termination of employment are recorded as cancellations without a successor certificate, since the shares returned to authorized but unissued status.

Repurchases at original cost on termination of employment are recorded as cancellations without a successor certificate, since the shares returned to authorized but unissued status. Legend removal in each instance followed a certification from counsel, and the file holds that certification rather than relying on the transfer agent's practice. Restricted shares carry a legend, and the register distinguishes a legend that remains from one removed on a stated date with a stated certification behind it.

8. Charter Lineage and Sequence

No merger or conversion instrument appears, so the entity has remained throughout a corporation organized under the original Delaware certificate. Where a restatement consolidated earlier amendments, the superseded instruments stay in the file, because an abandoned proposal and an operative provision look alike once the numbering changes. The operative charter today is the most recent restatement as further amended, and this file identifies by reference each amendment that survives against it.

The operative charter today is the most recent restatement as further amended, and this file identifies by reference each amendment that survives against it. The original purpose clause was never narrowed, so no later instrument in the chain depends on a purpose amendment for its validity. Two restatements were adopted in the same week as a new series designation, and they remain separate instruments here because the state accepted them as separate filings.

9. Custody, Index, and Completeness

Materials relating to the current financing are held outside the historical tabs and are not indexed here. One tab has a gap covering a single year of registered agent correspondence, which the index records rather than leaving the reader to discover it. The stock ledger is maintained by the transfer agent, and the corporation holds a printout as of each quarter end for its own records.

The stock ledger is maintained by the transfer agent, and the corporation holds a printout as of each quarter end for its own records. The index distinguishes an original instrument from a conformed copy, because the distinction matters for the charter tabs in particular. The registered agent has changed once, and the acceptance of the incoming agent is filed with the instrument that recorded the change.

10. History of the Equity Plans

The plan's administration provisions were amended to allow delegation to a committee, and the delegation resolution is filed with the plan documents. A later plan introduced an evergreen provision, and the history records each year the evergreen tranche was certified by the board. The grant register is maintained by the plan administrator and reconciled to the reserve balance at each quarter end.

The grant register is maintained by the plan administrator and reconciled to the reserve balance at each quarter end. The plan permits early exercise, and the history notes that early-exercised shares appear in the certificate register as restricted stock. The evergreen was suspended for one year, and the suspension was approved by the same consent that carried a charter amendment.

11. Franchise Tax and Annual Reports

One year's report was filed before the directors' slate had been updated, and the following year's report corrected the listing. One year's payment was late and carried interest, and the log records the interest separately from the tax rather than folding it into a single figure. The log shows the assessed amount rising as authorized shares increased, which ties the tax record to the charter amendments in the lineage.

The log shows the assessed amount rising as authorized shares increased, which ties the tax record to the charter amendments in the lineage. The corporation is current on all state obligations at the date of this file, subject to the current year's report not yet being due. Good standing certificates were obtained at three points, and each certificate is filed with the request that produced it.

12. Matters Left Outstanding

Counsel expects most of the listed items to close before signing, but the file makes no commitment on the reader's behalf. One restricted stock election receipt is missing from the file, and the grantee has been asked to produce the mailing evidence. No open item in the file concerns the validity of the currently operative charter, and that is stated expressly to avoid a reader inferring otherwise.

No open item in the file concerns the validity of the currently operative charter, and that is stated expressly to avoid a reader inferring otherwise. The reviewer is asked to treat the open items list as the authoritative summary, since the individual tabs record only the items that touch them. Two notice addresses are stale, and until they are corrected any notice sent under the agreements to those parties is of doubtful effect.
