CORPORATE RECORD - RECORD 018

Helioscope Robotics, Inc. - diligence file reference LEGAL_HISTORY-018

1. Custody, Index, and Completeness

The records here concern the registered agent and registered office: the acceptance of the incoming agent, the office change lodged in January 2026, and the custody arrangements for the minute book and the stock ledger. Registered Agent, Registered Office, and Corporate Records Custody. The corporate secretary compiled these papers, which set out the registered-agent record, the office change, and custody of the minute book. The account is retrospective throughout, and a reader should attribute each number to its own instrument and not to the transaction under negotiation.

Corporate records requests from holders are logged separately, and no such request was outstanding at the date of this file. The corporation's records retention practice keeps charter and stockholder materials indefinitely, which the index states on its face. The registered office address is a matter of public record, and the file holds the state-stamped instrument that established the current address.

Opinion letters delivered at each financing are retained with their qualifications, and the index does not summarize those qualifications away. Corporate records requests from holders are logged separately, and no such request was outstanding at the date of this file. Where a document exists in both a signed and an unsigned form, the index names the signed version as the record copy.

2. Evidence of Good Standing

One report was filed on the last permitted day, and the log notes the timing without treating it as a deficiency. The registered agent's own annual fee is recorded separately from the franchise tax, since the two are unrelated obligations. The annual report identifies the directors and the principal place of business, and the log flags the year in which that information lagged an actual change.

Because a franchise tax showing is required for certain filings, one amendment was rejected until the prior year's payment could be evidenced. One report was filed on the last permitted day, and the log notes the timing without treating it as a deficiency. Where a report was amended, both the original and the amended version are retained, and the log explains what changed between them.

2. Evidence of Good Standing - part 2 of 4

A further extract of the 2. Evidence of Good Standing appears here, taken in order from the point at which the previous part ended. The sequence is unbroken either side of it.

Whatever caveat the 2. Evidence of Good Standing carried at its head travels with these rows, and no additional caveat attaches to this part. The break is editorial.

2. Evidence of Good Standing - part 3 of 4

The 2. Evidence of Good Standing begun above continues from this point, and its row references run consecutively across the parts rather than restarting. Pagination alone determines where it falls.

Everything stated about how the 2. Evidence of Good Standing was assembled continues to hold, and the break carries no substantive meaning. The break is editorial.

3. Filing Administration

The log was reconciled against the state's index for the corporation's file number, and every accepted instrument appears in both. A single batch contained a restatement and a designation, and the log shows the two instruments with distinct effective times inside the same lodgement. A third submission was accepted with a clerk annotation, which the log preserves because the annotation affects how the stamped copy reads.

Fees paid are recorded per batch rather than per document, since the state assesses several instruments lodged together as one transaction. The log was reconciled against the state's index for the corporation's file number, and every accepted instrument appears in both. No filing in the log was withdrawn after lodgement, so the file contains no withdrawal instrument.

4. Interpretation and Definitions

A defined term for business day governs every notice period in the instruments, and it excludes days on which the state office is closed. The term for a permitted transferee appears in both the charter and the transfer agreements, and the two definitions were conformed in one of the restatements. Capital stock, preferred stock, and each series are separate defined terms, and the charter avoids using the general term where a series is meant.

Where a definition was relocated during a restatement, the conformance schedule records the move so an old cross-reference can be followed. A defined term for business day governs every notice period in the instruments, and it excludes days on which the state office is closed. A defined term for the plan reserve links the charter's authorized totals to the equity plan documents without repeating any figure.

5. Parties, Successors, and Permitted Assigns

One party joined an agreement it was not required to join, and the register notes that its rights derive from the agreement rather than from the joinder. Assignment of rights to an affiliate was permitted in two instances, and each assignment is recorded with the joinder the assignee then delivered. The warrant holder joined for information rights only, and its joinder is drafted so that no voting obligation attaches to it.

The register distinguishes a permitted transferee that joined by operation of the transfer provisions from an investor that joined as a purchaser in a financing. One party joined an agreement it was not required to join, and the register notes that its rights derive from the agreement rather than from the joinder. No joinder in the register purports to modify the agreement it joins, and counsel confirmed that reading against each signature page.

6. Ledger and Transfer-Agent Records

For one holder the register shows two open certificates of the same class, which the corporation has left outstanding rather than consolidating them. No certificate in the register is recorded as lost, so the file contains no affidavit of loss or indemnity bond. The transfer agent holds the ledger of record, and instruction letters from the corporation are indexed against the entries they produced.

Where a holder returned a certificate for re-registration in the name of a nominee, the register names both the former holder and the nominee. For one holder the register shows two open certificates of the same class, which the corporation has left outstanding rather than consolidating them. Uncertificated shares appear in the ledger without a stub, and the register cross-references the board resolution that permitted uncertificated issuance.

7. Approvals and Requisite Calculations

Consent in lieu of a meeting was used throughout, which the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware (8 Del. C. § 228) permits subject to the mechanics the charter and bylaws then imposed. Counsel reviewed whether any consent required a notice to non-consenting holders after the fact, and identified the notices sent and the one that was not. Because written consents were solicited in counterparts, the register tracks how many counterparts were received against how many were sought for each matter.

One matter was approved by a threshold expressed as two thirds of a series, and counsel confirmed that the shares counted were held of record rather than beneficially. Consent in lieu of a meeting was used throughout, which the General

Corporation Law of the State of Delaware (8 Del. C. § 228) permits subject to the mechanics the charter and bylaws then imposed. The interested-party analysis was performed on the transaction as a whole and again on each item within it, because a director interested in one item was disinterested in the others.

8. Plan Adoption and Reserve Approvals

Where a grant was cancelled on termination, the history records whether the underlying shares returned to the reserve or were retired. The administrator's records identify the fair market value determination relied on for each grant date, and those determinations sit outside this file. Each reserve increase after the first preferred designation required a class approval, and the history names the class that gave it.

Two restatements changed no reserve amount, and the history shows a zero delta for them rather than omitting them. Where a grant was cancelled on termination, the history records whether the underlying shares returned to the reserve or were retired. The history records the plan under which each grant was made, which matters because two plans were live in the same calendar year.

9. Refusal, Co-Sale, and Transfer Administration

Any transfer that would have required a class approval is identified, and none in the period did. Notices were sent to the addresses of record, and two of those addresses were later found to be stale, which is recorded with the transfer rather than only in the notice log. Where a right of first refusal lapsed by non-exercise, the file holds the notice that started the period and the calendar showing when it ended.

The transfer records identify the purchaser in each secondary sale, and no transfer in the file was made to a person who had not joined the relevant agreements. Any transfer that would have required a class approval is identified, and none in the period did. The estate-planning transfer moved shares between two trusts with the same beneficiaries, and the file holds the trust certificates that establish the relationship.

10. Waiver Administration

Counsel reviewed whether any waiver purported to waive a right that the granting party did not hold, and found none. Because several waivers share a stated term of thirty days, the register computes each lapse date separately from its own grant date. The register distinguishes a waiver granted by the corporation from one granted by holders, since the two require different authority.

A waiver of an information-rights deadline had the practical effect of deferring three quarterly deliveries, and the register says which deliveries were affected. Counsel reviewed whether any waiver purported to waive a right that the granting party did not hold, and found none. The register records whether a lapse was noticed, partially noticed, or not noticed, and it does not treat an unnoticed lapse as a failure of the lapse itself.

11. Instrument Chronology

Since the corporation has kept one Delaware file number since incorporation, the state index does not by itself distinguish one instrument in the sequence from the next. Every designation in the chain rests on the blank-check authority the charter reserves to the board, and the enabling article is named for each one. Chronology is stated by effective time rather than by execution date: two instruments lodged on one afternoon took effect minutes apart, and that order governs the share reconciliation.

A short amendment touching only the forum article sits between two restatements, and it is easy to overlook precisely because it altered no economic term. Since the corporation has kept one Delaware file number since incorporation, the state index does not by itself distinguish one instrument in the sequence from the next. A reader working backwards from the current authorized totals reaches one step that will not reconcile until the correction instrument is read together with the amendment it repairs.

12. Matters Left Outstanding

Where an item was closed during the review, the file records both the state before and the step that closed it. The list does not include items arising from the current financing, which are tracked separately by the transaction team. A lapse notice for one waiver was never circulated to a holder who was entitled to receive it, and the holder's later acknowledgement does not cure the omission on the record.

The standstill question raised in the most recent secondary inquiry remains open, and no waiver has yet been granted or refused. Where an item was closed during the review, the file records both the state before and the step that closed it. An item was reopened after it had been closed, because the document produced turned out to be a superseded copy.
