Exercise and Adjustment Provisions

warrant lenderA penny states the covered security, exercise price, expiration, exercise notice, payment alternatives, certificate delivery, and treatment in a change of control.

Share splits, combinations, recapitalizations, and similar events adjust the covered shares and exercise price without creating an additional economic right.

The holder's transfer, notice, governing-law, and amendment rights are administered under the signed warrant and its attached exercise form.

1. Grant of the Warrant and the Facility It Accompanies

Helioscope Robotics, Inc. grants to the Holder the right to purchase shares of its common stock on the terms of this Warrant. The Warrant was issued to the lender under the revolving credit facility the Company entered into to fund its receivables, as part of the consideration for that lender's agreement to make the facility available, and was delivered at the same closing as the facility documents.

The Warrant is not security for the facility and is not repaid or cancelled when the facility is repaid. It is a separate instrument, and the Holder keeps it whether or not the facility remains outstanding, whether or not the Company draws on the facility, and whether or not the facility is terminated early by either party.

The number of shares this Warrant covers was fixed by reference to the lender's commitment under the facility rather than to the amount the Company actually drew. The Company did not undertake to draw any particular amount, and the Holder did not undertake to increase its commitment; the coverage is stated in Section 2 and does not change with the utilisation of the facility.

2. Shares Covered by This Warrant

The number of shares of common stock purchasable on the exercise of this Warrant is the number stated on the face of the Warrant, subject to adjustment under Sections 9 and 10. The Company shall keep that number of shares authorised and reserved for issue on exercise for so long as this Warrant remains exercisable.

The shares purchasable are shares of common stock and carry no preference, no dividend entitlement beyond that of common stock generally, and no separate voting right. The Holder is not entitled to receive preferred stock on exercise, and the conversion of the Company's preferred stock into common stock does not change the number of shares this Warrant covers except as Section 9 provides.

If the Company issues shares of common stock, or securities convertible into common stock, at any price, the number of shares this Warrant covers is not increased and the Exercise Price is not reduced. This Warrant carries no anti-dilution protection against a dilutive issue, and the Holder accepted that position because the Exercise Price is nominal.

3. The Exercise Price and Why It Is Nominal

The Exercise Price is the amount stated on the face of this Warrant. It is a nominal amount per share, fixed at a figure that does no more than satisfy the requirement that shares be issued for consideration. It is not a market price, was not derived from any valuation of the Company, and is not adjusted by reference to any later valuation.

The parties chose a nominal price because the economic value of the Warrant was intended to be delivered to the lender in full, as part of the pricing of the facility, rather than being contingent on the Company's shares appreciating past a strike. The Company took that structure into account in negotiating the interest rate and fees under the facility.

The consequence of a nominal price is that the Warrant is almost certain to be exercised, and the parties accordingly provided in Section 6 for exercise to occur automatically if the Holder has not exercised before expiration.

The Holder is not obliged to fund the aggregate Exercise Price in cash, and Section 6 provides an alternative that avoids it. (17 C.F.R. § 230.501)

4. Exercise Period and Expiration

This Warrant is exercisable from the date it was issued and expires at the time stated on its face on the later of two dates: the fixed date stated on its face, and the date on which the facility is repaid in full and the lender's commitment is terminated. The Company shall notify the Holder in writing when the second of those conditions is satisfied.

The purpose of tying expiration to the later of those dates is to prevent the Warrant expiring while the lender is still exposed under the facility. If the facility is extended or refinanced with the same lender, the Warrant continues until the extended or refinanced facility is repaid and the commitment terminated.

The Company shall give the Holder written notice at least twenty Business Days before the expiration of this Warrant, stating the expiration date, the number of shares then purchasable and the Exercise Price then applicable. A failure to give that notice extends the expiration by the number of days by which the notice is late.

5. Manner of Exercise and the Notice of Exercise

The Holder exercises this Warrant by delivering to the Company a completed notice of exercise in the form attached, together with this Warrant, and by paying the aggregate Exercise Price for the shares as to which the Warrant is exercised, in immediately available funds or by the alternative in Section 6. The Warrant may be exercised in whole or in part and more than once.

Exercise takes effect at the close of business on the day on which the last of those deliveries is made, and the Holder is treated as the record holder of the shares from that time whether or not a certificate has been issued. If the Warrant is exercised in part the Company shall issue the Holder a replacement Warrant for the balance on the same terms.

The Company shall issue the shares within five Business Days of an effective exercise, and shall deliver either a certificate or a statement of a book-entry position as Section 8 provides. The Company shall not require the Holder to deliver anything beyond the notice of exercise, the Warrant and the representations in Section 14.

6. Net Exercise and the Automatic Exercise Before Expiration

In place of paying the aggregate Exercise Price in cash, the Holder may elect a net exercise, under which the Company issues the Holder the number of shares the net exercise formula in the Warrant produces and retains, in satisfaction of the Exercise Price, the shares that formula withholds. The Holder pays nothing on a net exercise and receives fewer shares than a cash exercise would produce.

If this Warrant has not been exercised in full immediately before its expiration, and the fair market value of a share then exceeds the Exercise Price, the unexercised portion is exercised automatically by way of net exercise without any act of the Holder. The Company shall issue the resulting shares and shall notify the Holder of the number issued and the calculation applied.

The same automatic net exercise applies immediately before the closing of a transaction described in Section 11, so that the Holder participates in that transaction as a stockholder rather than as the holder of an instrument the acquirer may decline to assume. The Company shall give the Holder the notice Section 11 requires so that the Holder may instead exercise for cash if it prefers.

7. Determination of Fair Market Value

For the purposes of a net exercise, the fair market value of a share of common stock is determined as the valuation particulars of this Warrant provide. Where the Company's common stock is publicly traded, the particulars use a market price; where it is not, they use the price implied by the Company's most recent sale of preferred stock or the value the Company's board has most recently determined.

The Company shall deliver to the Holder, with the notice it gives under Section 4 or Section 11, a statement of the fair market value it considers applicable and the basis on which it was determined. The Holder may query the statement within five Business Days, and the Company shall answer the query in writing before the exercise takes effect.

If the Holder disputes the value and the parties do not resolve the dispute within ten Business Days, either may refer it to an independent appraiser that neither has instructed in the preceding two years. The appraiser's determination binds both parties, and the party whose position is further from the determination bears the appraiser's fees.

8. Delivery of Certificates and the Book-Entry Alternative

The Company shall deliver to the Holder, within five Business Days of an effective exercise, either a certificate representing the shares issued or, if the Company maintains uncertificated shares, a statement of the book-entry position recorded in the Holder's name. The Holder may specify which it prefers in the notice of exercise and the Company shall comply if it is able to.

A certificate or notation bears the Company's restrictive legend and, where the Holder has adhered to an agreement of the Company's stockholders, a notation of that agreement. The Company shall not condition delivery on the Holder adhering to an agreement it has not previously been asked to adhere to.

If a certificate is lost, stolen or destroyed, the Company shall issue a replacement on receiving an affidavit to that effect and, if the Company reasonably requires, an indemnity. The Company shall not require a surety bond from an institutional holder whose own indemnity it has accepted.

9. Adjustment for Splits, Combinations and Stock Dividends

If the Company subdivides its outstanding common stock, pays a dividend in shares of common stock, or otherwise increases the number of its outstanding shares without receiving consideration, the number of shares this Warrant covers is proportionately increased and the Exercise Price is proportionately decreased, so that the aggregate Exercise Price payable on a full exercise is unchanged.

If the Company combines its outstanding common stock into a smaller number of shares, the number of shares this Warrant covers is proportionately decreased and the Exercise Price is proportionately increased, again leaving the aggregate Exercise Price unchanged. An adjustment under this Section takes effect at the same time as the event that causes it.

The Company shall deliver to the Holder, within ten Business Days of an adjustment, a statement signed by an officer showing the event, the adjusted number of shares, the adjusted Exercise Price and the arithmetic. An adjustment is effective whether or not that statement is delivered, and a failure to deliver it does not deprive the Holder of the adjustment.

10. Adjustment on a Reclassification, Recapitalisation or Reorganisation

If the outstanding common stock is reclassified, recapitalised or exchanged for other securities or property in a transaction in which the Company continues in existence, this Warrant becomes exercisable for the securities or property the Holder would have received had it exercised in full immediately before the transaction, and the aggregate Exercise Price is unchanged.

The Company shall not effect a transaction of that kind unless the resulting instrument gives the Holder rights no less favourable than those this Warrant gives, and shall deliver to the Holder before the transaction a written statement of the securities or property for which the Warrant will be exercisable and the basis of the calculation. (8 Del. C. § 251)

No adjustment under this Section or Section 9 increases the aggregate Exercise Price payable on a full exercise or reduces the economic benefit of this Warrant. Where two adjustments would otherwise apply to the same event, the one that preserves the Holder's position more closely applies and the other does not.

11. Treatment on a Change of Control

The Company shall notify the Holder at least twenty Business Days before the closing of a merger, consolidation or sale of substantially all of its assets in which it does not survive or in which its stockholders receive cash or securities of another person. The notice shall describe the consideration payable per share of common stock and the expected closing date. (8 Del. C. § 262)

The Holder may exercise this Warrant for cash at any time before that closing. If it has not done so, the unexercised portion is exercised automatically by net exercise immediately before the closing under Section 6, and the Holder participates in the transaction as a holder of the resulting shares.

The Company shall not agree with an acquirer that this Warrant is cancelled without the automatic exercise this Section provides, or that it is assumed on terms less favourable than Section 10 requires. A provision of a transaction document that purports to do either is ineffective against the Holder.

12. No Rights as a Stockholder Before Exercise

Until this Warrant is exercised the Holder has no right to vote, no right to receive a dividend or other distribution, no right to receive notice of a meeting of stockholders, and no right to inspect the Company's books in the capacity of a stockholder. The Holder's only rights are those this Warrant gives it.

The Holder is not liable for the Exercise Price unless and until it exercises, and no provision of this Warrant obliges the Holder to exercise. The automatic exercise in Section 6 operates by the terms of this Warrant and not by any obligation of the Holder, and imposes no liability on the Holder to pay the Exercise Price in cash.

13. Transfer to Facility Participants and Other Transfers

The Holder may transfer this Warrant, in whole or in part, to a person that is or becomes a participant in the facility, to an affiliate of the Holder, or to a fund managed by the Holder's manager, on notice to the Company and on the transferee delivering the representations in Section 14. No consent of the Company is required for such a transfer.

Any other transfer requires the Company's prior written consent, which the Company may withhold if the proposed transferee carries on a business competitive with the Company's or if the transfer would oblige the Company to make a filing it is not otherwise obliged to make. The Company shall respond to a request for consent within ten Business Days.

The Company shall maintain a register of this Warrant and of every transfer of it, and shall treat the person shown in that register as the Holder. On a partial transfer the Company shall issue separate Warrants to the transferor and the transferee for their respective portions, each on the terms of this Warrant.

14. Representations, Legend and Limits on Resale

The Holder represents on issuance, and on each exercise, that it is an accredited investor, that it is acquiring this Warrant and the shares issuable on its exercise for its own account and not with a view to distribution, and that it has the knowledge and experience to evaluate the risks of the investment.

This Warrant and the shares issuable on its exercise are restricted securities and may not be resold except in a transaction registered under the applicable securities law or exempt from registration. (17 C.F.R. § 230.144) The Holder acknowledges that no market exists for either and that the Company has given no undertaking to register them.

The Company shall apply its restrictive legend to a certificate or notation for shares issued on exercise, and may decline to record a transfer of this Warrant or of those shares that is made otherwise than in accordance with Section 13 and this Section.

Adjustment and notices

Adjustments and notices are administered under the complete warrant instrument.

15. Notices, Amendment, Governing Law and the Attached Form

Notices under this Warrant are given in writing to the addresses recorded in the notice particulars and are effective on delivery, or on written confirmation of receipt if given by electronic mail. A notice given under the facility documents is not a notice under this Warrant, and each instrument keeps its own addresses.

This Warrant may be amended only in writing signed by the Company and the Holder, is governed by the law of the State of Delaware without regard to its conflict-of-laws rules, and is severable. The form of notice of exercise attached to it, and the valuation and notice particulars, form part of it.

The Company shall keep this Warrant, its particulars, the attached form and the register of transfers in one file, and shall keep that file with the facility documents so that a reader examining the facility sees the consideration the lender received for it.

16. Covenants of the Company While This Warrant Is Outstanding

The Company undertakes, for so long as this Warrant remains exercisable, to keep sufficient authorised shares reserved for its exercise, to take the corporate action necessary to increase that reservation if it becomes insufficient, and not to amend its certificate of incorporation in a way that would prevent the issue of the shares this Warrant covers.

The Company further undertakes to give the Holder the notices this Warrant requires, to answer a query on a calculation within the period stated, and to deliver an officer's statement after an adjustment. Those undertakings are given to the Holder in its capacity as holder of this Warrant and are enforceable by a transferee of it.

The Company gives no financial covenant in this Warrant. The covenants that limit the Company's indebtedness, its distributions and its disposals are in the facility documents, are given to the lender in its capacity as lender, and are not incorporated here; a breach of one of them is not a breach of this Warrant.

Exhibit C - Covenants in this Warrant and how compliance is evidenced

Covenant	Owed to	How compliance is evidenced	When tested	Remedy for breach
Keep sufficient shares reserved	The Holder as holder of this Warrant	Certified extract of the board reservation	On each exercise and annually	Specific performance

17. How This Warrant and the Facility Documents Interact

The facility documents and this Warrant were negotiated together and signed at the same closing, but they are separate instruments with separate parties' rights. A waiver given under the facility is not a waiver under this Warrant, an amendment of the facility does not amend this Warrant, and a release of the lender's security does not affect the Holder's rights here.

The one point at which the two connect is the expiration date, which under Section 4 depends on the repayment of the facility and the termination of the commitment. The Company shall accordingly notify the Holder of that repayment and termination even where the Holder and the lender are the same person, so that the file contains the evidence on which the expiration date rests.

If the facility is assigned in part to a participant and the Warrant is transferred to the same participant under Section 13, the participant holds its share of the facility and its portion of the Warrant separately, and may enforce either without the other. The Company shall record the two in separate registers.

18. Severability of the Automatic Exercise Provision

If the automatic net exercise in Section 6 is held to be ineffective for any reason, the Holder's right to exercise this Warrant by delivering a notice and paying the Exercise Price in cash is unaffected, and the expiration date is extended, as against the Holder alone, by twenty Business Days from the date the Holder learns of the holding.

The Company shall notify the Holder promptly if it is advised that the automatic exercise may be ineffective, shall not rely on that advice to refuse an exercise the Holder tenders in cash, and shall not treat the Warrant as having lapsed while the question is unresolved.

This Section does not entitle the Holder to exercise after the extended date, and does not revive a Warrant that has lapsed for a reason other than the ineffectiveness of the automatic exercise.
