PUBLIC COMMENT — ARDEN RENEWABLE ENERGY ASSOCIATION

Submitted 18 April 2025

The Association supports the purposes of the bill and wishes to correct an impression.

The Association's members have not sought and do not seek any part of the fund. The bill confines the fund to repair and adaptation projects and the Association agrees that it should stay confined. If an amendment were offered directing any part of the fund to renewable generation or manufacture, the Association would oppose it.

The Association's members' revenue is predominantly equipment and services, 68.3 per cent of it invoiced to customers outside Arden. Members' growth over the last five years has been driven by federal tax credits and by offshore procurement in neighbouring states, not by the price of fossil fuel in Arden.

Association members employ 2,890 people in Arden and expects that number to rise on the strength of orders already placed, whether or not this bill passes.

The Association makes no submission on the constitutional questions, on which it is not advised.

The Association has 43 member companies.
